

TOOL // L'auto-évaluation de la présentation orale

What is it used for?

The tool allows students to self-assess, as well as to receive feedback from the teacher as they prepare a series of tasks leading up to a short oral presentation on the characteristics of a friend.

How do you use it?

The students receive a feedback sheet that lists the tasks to be completed. The student's name and learning goal are recorded at the top of the sheet.

When the student completes a subtask, they record the date and their feelings about how well they did in the appropriate box. The teacher adds feedback in the next box.

How could this be used in other subject areas?

This checklist assessment form can be adapted to any learning goal simply by filling out the appropriate steps for achievement.
