High Five Formative Assessment

What is it used for?
This can be used as formative assessment before beginning a unit or concept or part way through to assess how well the students understand what has been taught.

If we have had a Shared Reading of a piece I ask the students to give me 5 details from the text or 5 key points. If we are watching video or reading a textbook I ask them to give me 5 facts. I have a sheet with a hand print on it and they put the points around the finger tips.

How do you adapt it to other subjects and topics?
This can be used for any subject and can be diagnostic if students are asked to give you five things they know about an upcoming unit i.e. Give me 5 things you know about perimeter, Give me 5 things you know about Structures.
