What is the tool?

Writing Feedback Keys

What is it used for?

The tool provides specific, individual feedback to students on their writing. Students use them to refer to when improving their next piece of writing.

How do you use it?

Each child has a small ring and the teacher has numerous key shapes cut out and hole punched. The first key has the child's name. Each time the child conferences with the teacher they receive a key with specific feedback for them on that piece of writing. When a child demonstrates that they can apply the feedback it is removed from their key chain. The students use their key chain whenever they are editing and revising a piece of writing.
